JASSIRA MARIA ORTET FERNANDES

CAPE VERDEAN STUDENT WAS ADMITTED TO USP VIA THE PROGRAM FOR PARTNER UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS (PEC-G)

New friendships

I was admitted to the Obstetrics program at the Universidade de São Paulo via an agreement between Brazil and my home country, Cape Verde, under the auspices of the Program for Partner Undergraduate Students.

Our first days of classes were great, because we were the first and only Africans from Cape Verde to come to study at USP/ EACH (School of Arts, Sciences and Humanities). Everyone was curious to meet us and to learn about life in our country. I ended up meeting most of the students in the college, and they were all really cool, receptive, nice and friendly.

Brazil is a wonderful country and USP is one of the best universities.

Enjoy your exchange program to the max, you won't regret it.

Culture and Diversity

I have been studying anthropology for two semesters at USP as an exchange student. Studying and living here has changed the way I see Brazil. I liked the university right from the outset and here I have the opportunity to interact with people of different nationalities, allowing me to acquire new knowledge and broaden my worldview. Markets on weekends, “sambas” that take place in the city, great parties, exhibitions, displays... São Paulo is a city where you always find something going on, there's always something to do, you just have to stay tuned in.

Universidade de São Paulo is one of the largest and most important institutions of higher education and research in Brazil and Latin America. Founded in 1934, USP is a public state institution (it does not charge tuition fees) and has campi placed in seven towns spread throughout the state of São Paulo. With its education and research activities in all academic fields, USP offers 245 undergraduate programs, 227 graduate programs (both master's and doctorate (PhD) degrees) and 888 extracurricular programs. In total, there are about 90,000 students enrolled in 48 Schools (faculties and institutes) which make up USP. Furthermore, the university houses four important museums which receive over half a million visitors per year. In addition, USP runs health centers and three major hospitals. It also works in partnership with Hospital das Clínicas in Ribeirão Preto and Hospital das Clínicas of São Paulo, the latter considered one of the leading hospitals in Latin America.

Over 85% of the almost 5,900 academic staff members are full time employees. This reinforces the university's commitment to achieving excellence in terms of its personnel and in generation of knowledge.

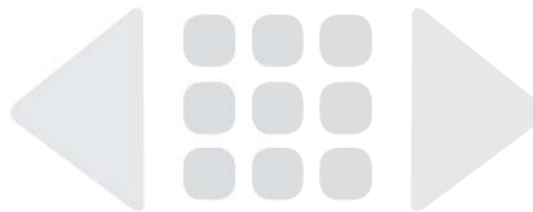

USP's scientific productivity totals an average of 27,500 publications per year including indexed scientific journals, books, reports, etc. This represents a significant proportion of the country's output.

The university is concerned with the application of the discoveries made within its research centers and laboratories and their effective transfer to society in general. For this reason many members of the USP community are in permanent partnership with industries, companies, offices and health centers specialized in the development of projects and products, as well as in the application of new techniques and technologies.

The university also plays an important role in South America, since it attracts many students, professors and technicians from the neighboring countries and from all parts of the world. It is an institution that evolves rapidly in its intent towards greater internationalization and this has been accompanied by its ever growing visibility on the world stage. It has signed more than 570 cooperation and exchange agreements with important institutions in the Americas, Africa, Europe, Asia and Oceania, and is constantly working towards increasing this number. The university currently receives about 2,000 foreign students per year and sends abroad a similar number as part of its student mobility program.

How to get admitted to USP.

International Cooperation

The International Relations Office is responsible for all aspects of the university's international affairs. Here, foreign students will get the necessary support to solve their main doubts about academic life and also tips regarding the process of adaptation to our university and country. Besides the central International Relations Office, most schools have local international relations offices.

Programs offered to foreign undergraduate students

ADMISSION AS A REGULAR STUDENT

1 Admission Test (“Vestibular”)

The admission test - “Vestibular” - is organized every year by Fundação Universitária para o Vestibular (FUVEST). It is commonly applied between November and January. Further information can be found at: <http://www.fuvest.br/>

2 Transfer

Transfer from other higher education institutions (both Brazilian or foreign) is only possible when unfilled places are available. This admission process happens via pre-selection and specific examinations, both applied by FUVEST. Further information can be found at: <http://www.fuvest.br/>

3 Program for Partner Undergraduate Students (PEC-G)

This is a cooperation program between Brazil and developing countries in Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean. The goal is to offer to young students from these countries the opportunity to undertake their full undergraduate studies at USP. To be eligible for the program, it is necessary to fulfill the following requirements:

- Be a citizen of the developing countries with which Brazil maintains an Educational and Cultural Cooperation Agreement;
- Posses a High School diploma or equivalent;
- Be aged between 18 and 25 years old.

The pre-selection is carried out by the Brazilian Embassy in the candidate’s home country. The evaluation of the students is done based on their High School résumé or equivalent and on their conditions of financial means. For more information, go to: <http://bit.ly/9AXPaR> . Should a student be selected to take part in the program, he/she must submit the following documents for registration at the International Relations Office and for enrollment:

- Covering letter;
- Declaration of commitment;
- Term of Financial Responsibility;
- Trascript of School Records/ High School Diploma equivalent and Birth Certificate (all documents must be duly sealed and recognized by the Brazilian Embassy);
- Request for Consular Visa;
- Passport with a Temporary Student Visa (Type IV)

ADMISSION AS AN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Exchange students are normally allowed to take courses at USP for a period limited to one or two semesters. . Nevertheless, this period can be further extended for a period up to two more semesters, if authorized by both - the foreign institution and by USP. To apply for the program, your home institution must send the following documents:

- A reference letter for the student, written by the home university;
- A reference letter for the student, written by a professor from the home institution;
- A completed application form for foreign students (available at the website: http://www.ccint.usp.br/wp-content/uploads/Formulario\_Incoming\_2011.doc)
- A transcript of the student's undergraduate record formally recognized by the home university and accompanied by a translation into Portuguese;
- A Study Plan, including a list of courses the candidate intends to take at USP (to put up your study plan, go to: <http://bit.ly/4qkze7>);
- Copy of the pages of the applicant's passport which include personal data (including the expiration date);
- Digital photography for the document, in ".jpg" format and maximum size of 50Kb (send by e-mail to: incomingstudents@usp.br)

The DEADLINES for submissions are:

For the first semester (February to June): until OCTOBER 5TH.

For the second semester (August to December): until MAY 5TH.

“

I am very grateful to the International Relations Office staff. They've always listened to my doubts and they always answered them respectfully.

Juan Manuel Zanabria
Universidad de Buenos Aires
Argentina

Selected students must subsequently present the following documents for registration at the International Relations Office and for enrollment:

- Passport with a Temporary Student Visa (Type IV);
- Voucher of the International Health Insurance/ Travel Insurance.

Programs offered to foreign graduate students

ADMISSION AS A REGULAR STUDENT

1 Foreign student interested in undertaking graduate studies at USP must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study.

2 Program for Partner Graduate Students (PEC-PG)

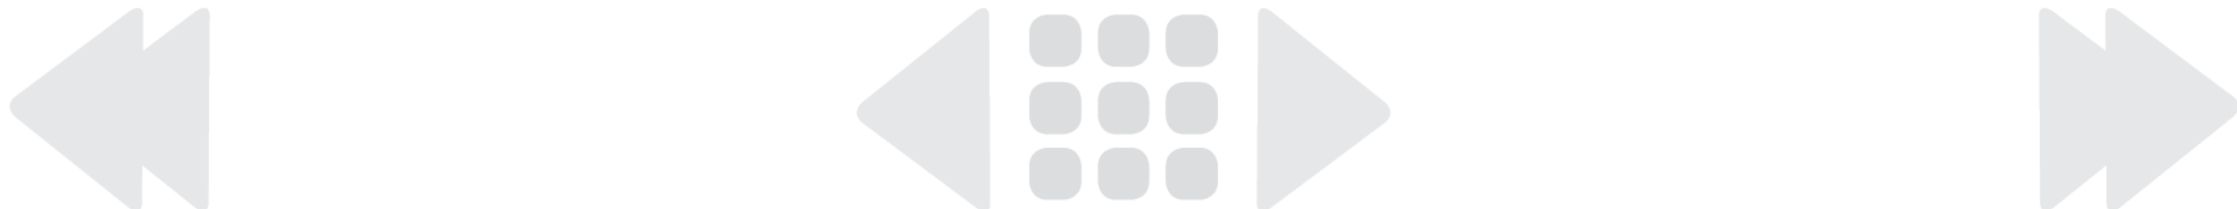

PEC-PG is a cooperation program with countries from Africa, Asia, Latin America and Caribbean. Foreign student interested in applying to a graduate program via PEC-PG must get in touch directly with the School where they wish to study. Applicants must send a transcript of their records (officially translated into Portuguese) along with a research project or study plan, and request an acceptance letter from the School's Graduate Degree Program (Masters or PhD).

For more information, please go to:
<http://www.dce.mre.gov.br/>.

ADMISSION AS AN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Foreign students interested in doing part of their graduate studies at USP under the exchange program must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study.

For information on existing Graduate Programs, please go to the website: <http://www.usp.br/prpg/pt/index.htm>.

Prior leaving

SELECTION PROCESS

The International Relations Office only intermediates in the process which allows foreign exchange students to gain access to USP. Analysis of the information provided by the applicant is undertaken by the School where he/she intends to study and will take up to approximately 60 days after the subscription deadline

VISA

In order to legally reside in Brazil for the time necessary to undertake the intended study and to be able to enroll at Universidade de São Paulo, foreign students must obtain a student visa (Type IV Temporary Visa) with the Brazilian Embassy or Consulate in their home country. The addresses of Brazilian Embassies and Consulates can be found at: <http://www.mre.gov.br/>.

HEALTH INSURANCE

During his/her stay in Brazil, foreigner will be allowed to use the services of the Brazilian Public Health System only in cases of emergency. For this reason, Universidade de São Paulo demands that students obtain health insurance (travel insurance), which should be purchased in the country of origin prior to arrival in Brazil. The insurance policy should be valid for the entire period of intended stay in the country. The choice of travel insurance is the student's responsibility.

Important!

Foreigners can use the Brazilian Public Health System only in emergency cases.
The foreign student must purchase a health insurance (travel insurance) before coming to Brazil.

Important!

It is not possible to enroll a foreign student holding a tourist visa. Nor it is possible to change the type of visa once already in Brazil or a neighboring country. Under such circumstances, should the need arise to change the type of visa, it will be necessary for the student to return to his/her home country.

After arrival

Once in Brazil, the foreign student must present himself/herself to the International Relations Office of USP in order to be introduced to the university and receive instructions about the necessary procedures.

The International Relations Office staff will provide information about:

- RNE – mandatory registration and identification of any foreigner in Brazil. The associated document is issued by the Federal Police with whom all visitors should register within 30 days of arrival in the country;
- USP ID card;
- Portuguese course enrollment;
- Signing up for classes;
- Student Single Transportation Card (“Bilhete Único Estudantil”) – COSEAS;
- Homestay Program

In order to stay in Brazil, it is necessary to have a valid foreigner’s ID card (RNE) issued by the Federal Police. Please see the website of the Brazilian Federal Police for more information: <http://bit.ly/gnLthi>

LIBRARIES

At USP, there are libraries in all Schools and any student may consult or borrow books without charge.

Integrated Library System

Online catalogue: <http://www.usp.br/sibi/>

PORTUGUESE CLASSES FOR FOREIGNERS

All the activities of the university are held in Portuguese. The Language Center of the Faculty of Philosophy, Languages and Humanities (FFLCH) offers a Portuguese language course for USP’s exchange students.

For more information, go to: <http://www.fflch.usp.br/cl/>

USP and the state of São Paulo

The state of São Paulo: how to reach USP campi.
Plan your stay!

Located in the southeastern region of the country, it occupies an area of 248,808.8 km<sup>2</sup> with the city of São Paulo as its capital. It is Brazil's most populous state, with 40 million inhabitants, and it is also the wealthiest, responsible for over 33.1%* of the country's GDP.

The Universidade de São Paulo has campi in seven cities of the state: Bauru, Lorena, Piracicaba, Pirassununga, Ribeirão Preto, São Carlos and São Paulo.

Bauru

The town of Bauru has its origins in the cultivation of coffee, in the 19th century, and over the decades has received immigrants from different nationalities. It is a medium sized town, with about 360 thousand inhabitants*, and it is strategically located at the confluence of important roads and rail connections, making Bauru's economy one of the most influential in Western São Paulo. Its valuable historical heritage, together with its notable level of scientific enterprise and the large student population (around 25 thousand) lead to an agitated social and cultural life and help to ensure that Bauru is, above all, a town headed towards the future.

Lorena

Located in the Valley of Paraíba River, the town is almost equidistant from São Paulo and Rio de Janeiro and has excellent transport links. Its population is around 82 thousand people* including that approximately 5 thousand are students. After the coffee production and livestock-related activities, Lorena has become industrialized and has taken its place as one of the Valley's most important economies. In this town where technology blends with history, Universidade de São Paulo has found a fertile terrain for education and research.

Piracicaba

Home for approximately 360 thousand people* and one of the largest economies of the state of São Paulo and of Brazil as a whole, Piracicaba's agricultural industry is largely derived from sugar cane. Crossed by the Piracicaba River, the history of the city has always been a symbiosis between the river and the town. The university campus occupies 56 hectares (aprox. 138 acres) and is composed of parks and woodlands and has a vigorous historical heritage.

Ribeirão Preto

Ribeirão Preto has its origins in the livestock industry, but this was soon overtaken by coffee production as its main economic activity. The town has received so many immigrants (mainly Italians) that, in the beginning of the 20th century, more than half of its inhabitants were not native Portuguese speakers. Nowadays, with over 605 thousand people*, it is considered an attractive option for business enterprises, besides being an economic highlight in its region. The diversified cultural life, the rich historic heritage and the talent for business are remarkable characteristics of Ribeirão Preto. Definitely, Ribeirão Preto is a big town with aspects of a small town.

São Carlos

As with many other towns of the region, the city of São Carlos was at first largely dedicated to the production of coffee. Subsequently, the changing economy forced modernization and the need to invest in new infrastructure. This, allied to the abundant immigrant workforce (mostly Italians), led to the industrialization of the city. São Carlos, which has become known for pioneering innovation and a spirit of enterprise, came to possess a welldeveloped urban infrastructure prior to many other Brazilian cities. This has turned it into one of the dominant economies of its region and also a Brazilian landmark in terms of technology and education.

São Paulo

Having reached now the outstanding milestone of almost 11 million people*, in part the consequence of immigration from all over the world, São Paulo is the most important financial and economic center of South America. The town hosts about 90 thousand events a year as well as being the city of business. It offers a great diversity in terms of leisure, entertainment and culture (cinemas, theaters, night clubs, restaurants, parks, museums, etc), besides options for eating out that embrace many different cuisines from around the globe as well as typical dishes from several regions of the country.* Source: CENSO 2010 / IBGE

General Information and logging tips

USP does not have dormitories for foreign exchange students. However, the International Relations Office (CCInt) has created the Homestay Program, which consists of a list of family homes, student boarding houses, hotels and hostels in the city of São Paulo and may be consulted by visiting the International Relations Office students at any time. Costs vary according to location, service, type of room, etc. The International Relations Office does not intermediate the negotiation process.
