In the third edition of the International Symposium of Research on Museology, we intend to discuss the role of museums in contemporary world. Nowadays reality is a very complex one, involving not only migratory fluxus and cultures – which until recently did not have a place in the traditional notion of museum – but also, and more importantly, the experience with the virtual world, and new digital media. Furthermore, we have faced a boom of creation of new museums in territories never thought before, and the growth of museum's audience - due to the incorporation of museums in the cultural and tourist industry. Museums seem to be dealing with at least four layers of demands: They have to educate, mainly by getting involved with local community; they have to promote alterity and debate on themes of contemporaneity in a global platform; they have to adapt themselves to the needs of management in the scale of the cultural industry; and they still have to preserve material culture for the long duration.

From this framework, we invite applications of research developed in the following topics:

- The making of collections in various fields of knowledge
- Museum curatorship today
- Museum Art and education today
- Museological Project and Planning
- Interdisciplinary Reserch in Museums
- History of museums and of Museology
- Museums and Society
- Museums and Globalization
